

A Poem about Australia

Australia, an island that is very wide.
So big it is a continent,
With sand that can turn the sky red
And amazing sights wherever you're led.

In Sydney stands the Opera House,
Beside the harbour and the beautiful sea.
Also don't forget the Harbour Bridge,
A steel construction as high as a little ridge.

The Great Barrier Reef beneath the sea,
With all its colorful beauty
Fishes and corals create I wonderful view,
Making it special and unique too.

And don't forget about the Outback.
Where Kangaroos hop across the land and snakes are lying in the red sand.

by Max Jäger